Despite the bombs, the silence, the complicity, the dehumanisation, and despite attempts to obliterate their existence, their past and present, Palestinians refuse to disappear, they are here to stay. Being is not premised on a recognition exacted from those implicated in your colonisation and erasure. Rather it is a life practice, a politics of patience and refusal, a will to remain and return to the land, and a desire to thrive decade after decade, intifada after intifada.

Refusing to Disappear is a series of decentralised film screenings and discussions held in different cities and venues across Belgium to engage with the rich legacy of Palestinian storytelling through films. It is a program that asks us to bear witness, remember, and rage against the Israeli war on Gaza and Palestine and to move collectively towards liberation, for a life in freedom and dignity for all, from the river to the sea.

This initiative is organised by United Screens of Palestine. We are an open collective of programmers responding to global film initiatives which serve as platforms for substantive discussions and an earnest exploration of the historical narrative of Palestine
